Negro population figures bring out 10 Negroes seeking Council seats in Newark Municipal Government while 32 whites seek to continue control of the city's white political power structure . . . Negroes critical of the number of Negroes seeking Newark Municipal elective office in the coming May 10, Newark election are faced with twice the number of whites seeking office with less population support, meaning the Negro voter of Newark represents the decisive, winning majority vote. The consensus is that "white popularity" among Negro voters will not be appreciably affected in the May election to mar the reelection of Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio, Possibly On The First Ballot.

Brutality Seen At An End In New Proposal

NEW YORK—Police Commissioner Howard R. Leary said last week that he was in favor of the "immediate arraignment of prisoners" and of "removing them from the custody of the police" once they were arraigned.

Mr. Leary was commenting on proposals to change Criminal Court procedure disclosed Thursday by Presiding Justice Bernard Botein of the Appellate Division, the administrator of all city courts in Manhattan and the Bronx. The procedural changes would call for round-the-clock "assembly-line" arraignment centers to be set up in each borough.

The proposed centers would also question, fingerprint, book and photograph prisoners—tasks now performed by the police in station houses and at headquarters. Thus, Justice Botein pointed out, there would be little room for allegations that the police had coerced prisoners

NEWARK — Some local observers who are considered men and women of reputation and standing in the Negro communities of the city feel that the sudden realization of the Negro's population growth has led to the considered high number of Negro candidates running for elective municipal office while others declare this represents the cry of a race long denied representation in government.

The results of a recent neighborhood groups and organizations poll, according to an independent report, shows that Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio, running for reelection; Calvin D. West, candidate for

Jelly Williams Now Free Who's Camp Now

NEWARK — Herman Williams better known throughout the city of Newark as Jelly Williams told the Herald News several days ago that he was bitterly disappointed over the fact that his friends and political associates had let him down in obtaining signatures for his petitions for Councilman-at-Large. The news coming Monday from the office of the City Clerk that his candidacy had been declared ineligible came as no surprise to the well known political fox.

Jelly Williams a resident of the South Ward who has his roots in the Central Ward has been identified with the Irvine I. Turner Association since its beginning. He has also served as a close political associate of Eulis Ward, powerful Negro chairman of the Central Ward Democrat Committee.

Ward could not be reached Tuesday for comment on Jelly's failure to qualify as a candidate for Newark Councilman-at-Large.

Supreme Court Kills Poll Tax By Vote Of 6-3

WASHINGTON — The poll tax, an instrument of disfranchisement which has for nearly a century characterized the spirit of white southern supremacy is dead in the United States. The Supreme Court on last Thursday in a 6 to 3 decision, declared Virginia's poll tax for non-Federal elections unconstitutional.

Associate Justice William O. Douglas spoke for the majority in finding that a state "violates the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment whenever it makes the affluence of the voter or payment of any fee an election standard."

Wealth or fee-paying, he asserted, "has, in our view, no relation to voting qualifications; the right to vote is too precious, too fundamental to be so burdened or conditioned."

Sharply dissenting opinions were voiced by Justice Harlan and Associate Justice Hugo Black and Justice Stewart. They argued that the majority decision constituted an invasion by the high court of the powers of the states and legislative branch.

The historic decision, while directly related to Virginia, presumably marked the end of the poll tax in all the four states where it has continued to be used in local and state elections despite its prohibition in

we want "Calvin West."

Everett Law served as chairman of the entertainment committee and Jackie Dickerson was in charge of the West girls. West West Boys and Girls were seen wearing the new popular LBJ Western Hats. Clyde Mitchell acted as master of ceremonies.

Calvin West, candidate for Councilman-at-Large and honored guest on the occasion stated in his address: "I interpret this affair as representing another truth that an individual or a group collectively may be faced with at various times throughout their lives. By analogy it is that 'moment of truth' when for the first time a soldier faces the battlefield or that 'moment' where the Bullfighter, after years of training faces the bull for the first time alone in the ring. This kickoff affair represents my moment of truth. I am neither a soldier or a bullfighter but a young man concerned about the city of Newark. This represents a giant step in my life. I am a candidate for Councilman-at-Large in the forthcoming Municipal election May 10, 1966. The use of the word 'moment of truth' can apply to the other side of the coin. It places a responsibility upon the citizens of the community. Especially the ethnic citizen. This is our moment of truth. This represents our opportunity to exercise political sophistication and elect Calvin D. West, Councilman-at-Large May 10, 1966. This has never been done in the history of our city. The formula is quite simple.

"First, support your incumbent Mayor, Hugh J. Addonizio for selection and assist him in moving Newark forward. Second, support Calvin D. West as candidate for Councilman-at-Large so that I may represent you not only on ethnic lines but as a citizen born and raised in this community and familiar with many of the existing problems. I feel that with your support of my candidacy and support of the present administration, great strides will continue to be achieved in our city.

"Therefore, there is a responsibility placed upon us as citizens to leave a legacy of 'good government' to your children and their children.

"In 1966, a new torch has been passed to a new generation of Americans all over the United States, young men of integrity are rising to the occasion to meet the challenge of solid representation in government.

"There are a few issues I would like to bring to your attention. These issues concern each and every one of you directly or indirectly."

West offered six statements of issues which was enthusiastically received by the gathering. On the subject of drugs, he said that he will fight for the establishing and maintaining of a compulsory clinic for victims of narcotics and also to have periodic checkups be made mandatory to a person on probation or parole. He said he would demand an investigation for the reason there exists and over average of constant substitute teachers in predominantly Negro neighborhoods. He said he could be counted upon to set up political clinics to enlighten young people in the procedures of registration and voting.

Candidate for Councilman-at-Large West told the friendly gathering that he was concerned about Newark citizens who would find the need of medical care and first aid treatment during the long rush-back to the city. He declared that he would fight to have established first aid stations in all wards of the city to take care of minor medical cases avoiding visits to Newark City Hospital. In conclusion West told his audience that he would fight for a city sports arena to attract professional teams and bring back to Newark its former reputation of being a great city of sports attractions.

The Owl Club meeting place of Political big wigs many of whom were heard Monday evening discussing in whose camp now would the inimitable, dashing, unpredictable Jelly Williams settle for the duration of the Newark Municipal campaign.

Of the 11 candidates whose petitions as candidates in the May 10 Municipal election were rejected by the office of the City Clerk, six were Negroes.

The six candidates whose petitions were rejected for various deficiencies were: for Councilman-at-Large: William J. Clark of 94 Seventh avenue and Andrew Washington, 38 Eckert avenue; and for Councilman from the South Ward was Leonard L. Lee, 864 Ridgewood avenue; and from the city's Central Ward, they were George Johnson, 400 Bergen street and James S. Taylor, 37 1/2 Hayes street.

While the Mayorality contest has been the center of attention in political circles throughout the state as well as in the city, the campaign to win the Central Ward seat now looms as the big one as Councilman Irvine I. Turner and George Richardson are left to fight it out with each other.

John B. Clark aiming to run as a candidate for Mayor was listed among those who were declared ineligible Monday by the office of the City Clerk.

New Proposal

The proposals foresee also the bypassing of the courts when alcoholics or narcotic addicts are involved, according to Milton Kelsky, an assistant to Dr. Costello. He said such defendants would be turned over to institutions for cure rather than to courts for trial and punishment, if the necessary legislation was enacted.

Mr. Kelsky explained that other reforms advocated by Justice Botein, including the creation of 24-hour arraignment centers, would not require new legislation because it was within the existing powers of the court system or depended on their closer cooperation with other public agencies.

The City Administrator's office is discussing the proposals in the still unpublished seven-page recommendations by Justice Botein with judicial, police, correction, welfare and health officials. Mr. Kelsky, a management analyst, suggested that Mayor Lindsay's administration might have a clear idea in about a week of the prospects for realizing the Botein plan.

As presiding Justice of the Appellate Division for the First Department (New York and Bronx Counties), he has been a daring innovator. He proved it again last Thursday, when, in testimony before a hearing of the State Senate Judiciary Committee, he outlined his proposal for a 24-hour arraignment part of Criminal Court, which he hopes will end the problem of coerced confessions in police ringing inosol ETAOI SHR D Under the plan, a person arrested for a felony or a serious misdemeanor would be taken to the court instead of the police station. There he would be in the process of being arraigned and thus would have the advice of a lawyer, if he wished, before he answered any questions.

with what was called Judge Botein's "abiding concern for the law's impact on the underprivileged" in a citation for an honorary degree at New York University in 1964. That concern led the judge to initiate the Bail and Summons Projects.

The Bail Projects grew out of his feeling that prisoners who could not make bail were, in effect, being punished by being imprisoned before they were convicted. With the help of others, he organized a system under which prisoners who had roots in the community were released in their own custody on their promise to appear in court to answer the charges against them.

The procedure proved successful and led to the Summons Project, now being tried as an experiment in three precincts on the West Side of Manhattan. Instead of being held in jail, accused persons are released with a summons to appear in court.

Gordon Writes Governor On Dope Issue

NEWARK — Councilman Philip Gordon of the East Ward last Saturday urged Governor Hughes to sign into law a bill to impose stiffer penalties on persons convicted as dope peddlers.

In a letter to the Governor,

Gordon pointed out that since 1964, when he was first elected to the City Council, he has been pressing for an increase in the maximum penalties and realistically tough mandatory sentences for those who seek to profit from the illegal sale of narcotics.

"I urge you to sign this bill into law without delay," Gordon wrote, "to serve notice on dope pushers and dope peddlers that New Jersey will not condone illicit traffic in drugs."

The bill passed the Senate

Wednesday after winning earlier approval in the Assembly and requires only the Governor's signature to become law.

Gordon also noted that he is Community Corporation on his proposal to set up a school-clinic at City Hospital under the federal anti-poverty program. The plan would provide specialized training in the case and treatment of drug addicts at a center where addicts themselves could be rehabilitated and returned to a useful place in society.

Envoy Passed Up Dr. King's Paris Rights Rally

PARIS — The State Department instructed the United States Ambassador to Paris not to attend a Civil Rights rally at which the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was the speaker. Dr. King described the action last Sunday as "unfortunate."

The department's stand was revealed last Sunday by the singer Harry Belafonte and confirmed by the embassy.

Mr. Belafonte called on Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen here in Paris Friday of last week to invite him to the rally, which was held this Monday evening at the Palais des Sports for the benefit of Dr. King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

"He said he was told by Washington that he was not to go," Mr. Belafonte said.

"That is quite correct," said Robert H. McBride, minister plenipotentiary, who was present at the meeting with the Ambassador. "We also told him that the reason given us by the department was that this is a private organization; the United States is not supporting any particular group but rather the civil rights movement as a whole."

Mr. McBride declined to comment on a statement by Mr. Belafonte that the diplomats had indicated that "we should keep our movement within the national boundaries of the United States."

be a contender. Of course the Yankees no longer murderers' row must get good stickwork from Elston Howard, Roger Maris, Mickey Mantle, Bobby Richardson, Roger Repoz, Hec Lopez to bolster their offense. Bobby Murcer the hard hitting rookie will start at shortstop, Roy White looks like Mickey Mantle's replacement in the outfield until Mantle can throw the ball — right now he can't. Hector Clarg gives the Yankees a good utility infielder. The Yankees' reserve power is anemic. As we see it it'll take good pitching a renaissance at bat by Elston Howard, Mickey Mantle, Joe Pepitone for the Yankees to be considered contenders.

When the major league baseball season kicking off April 11th, we deem it the proper time to assay the prospects of the two major league baseball clubs in the metropolitan area. Spring training success or losses usually form a poor yardstick to judge a ball club. However, the results sometimes helps one for man opinion at least for the early part of the season. The New York Mets under their new pilot Wes Westrum appear to have a better offense than last year. Dick Stuart, Ken Boyer, a revitalized Jim Hickman, a promising Cleon Jones and peripat Ron Hunt form the brunt of the attack. On defense the Mets have a fairly good first line infield in Dick Stuart or Ed Kranepool on first base, Ron Hunt at the keystone sack, the great glove and Roy McMillan in the short field and Kenny Boyer at the hot station. Ron Swoboda, Jim Hickman, Johnny Lewis, Cleon Jones, and Ed Kranepool form a so so outfield. The catching is just fair. The Mets young pitchers like Dick Selma, Rob Gardner, Tug McGraw, Dennis Ribant come through, and Joe Fisher, Larry Bearnath and Darrell Sutherland get off winging the Mets have an excellent chance of at least getting off to a fast start. The pitchers must click and the offense must hit 'em where they ain't in order to escape a 5th straight cellar finish in the tough National League.

Johnny Keane's New York Yankees appear in for many good days in the American League. The pitching is weak. Al Downing and Bulldog Jim Bouton are shown nothing. Whitey Ford, Mel Stottlemyer, Jack Cullen, Bob Friend must be successful on the hill if the Yankees are to

SPORT SHOTS: Unless his Army service dulls his play, Jack Kraemer the veteran professional tennis promoter feels that Arthur Ashe will be the nation's next big tennis sensation. Wilt Chamberlain, the Philly 76ers prolific scorer is to be commended for breaking five scoring records in the National Basketball Association. In scoring 2,649 points in 79 games the human skyscraper had tough competition from Jerry West of Los Angeles, Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati, and the fabulous rookie Rick Barry of San Francisco. It is our opinion that Chamberlain's new approach toward the game helped him a lot. The more we see of Cazzie Russell, the University of Michigan All-American, the more we believe he'll be a big star in the National Basketball Association. The Detroit boy is a take charge fellow, rough, tough, good shot, great passer and an ace playmaker. Let's hope the N. Y. Knicks can corral him. Be late congratulations to the following scholastic basketball teams on winning group didems: Weequahic, Park Ridge, Burlington, Don Bosco, Memorial of West New York, St. Patrick's, St. Rose of Belmar. WANAPUE AT 67% LEVEL

NEWARK — The water level at Wanauque Reservoir, which supplies several North Jersey municipalities, is about 21 percentage points higher than a year ago but still substantially below normal. It was reported last week. Reservoir engineers said that the reservoir in northern Passaic County held 18.75 billion gallons of usable water, or 67 per cent of its capacity. On March 22, 1965, the supply stood at 12.46 billion gallons, or about 46 per cent of capacity.

Newark, New Jersey — Earl Harris, candidate for councilman from the South Ward of Newark in the forthcoming municipal election of May 16th, today announced the appointment of Mr. Edward L. Holder, prominent young businessman and president of the South Side Democratic Organization, as his campaign manager.

Mr. Holder attended Seton Hall University and is presently a junior sales executive for a offices in Elizabeth, New Jersey, sporting goods company with key.

Ed Holder is president of the New Jersey Tennis Association and a member of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the Urban League of Essex County.

Mr. Holder stated, "I am deeply honored to have this opportunity to serve as campaign manager for Earl Harris. Mr. Harris is a militant, capable, and dedicated public servant who has devoted all of his adult life to the betterment of the community and mankind. Furthermore he is possessed of the kind of creative leadership that our community and city must have if the citizens of Newark—through their governmental representatives—are going to be able to successfully combat the deterioration and decadence that is so prevalent today."

About Bowling.....by Dick Ericson

THE HOOK: A thing which pops loose in proliferation when body English is extreme. Best idea is to use other type fastener, and twist to your heart's content. It's part of the fun.

THE HOOK: A hook is more effective than a straight ball in accomplishing a perfect hit, which occurs when the ball comes in at the perfect angle. With the hook ball a deflection action is imparted to the pins. Rather than going straight back standing erect, the pins go down at an angle giving what we call a blocking effect. One pin can carry three or four others. A hook is recommended.

Second Tiltle V Family Night Is Sponsored

NEWARK — Despite the heavy down pour last Thursday evening, Meer Harts All, project group worker of Newark's Work Experience Program, division of Public Welfare was on hand to greet the few who showed up at the second Tiltle V family night at Fuld Neighborhood House located in Hayes public housing project.

Mr. All said the affair was arranged for the purpose permitting trainees to meet each other including members of the Program staff and enjoy an evening of hospitality and fun. The first Tiltle V Family Night was held Friday evening March 21 at the Fuld Neighborhood House. The affair was a great success with more than 200 persons including children and staff workers.

Mr. All said that the city Work Experience Program included more than 500 Trainees and amounted to an estimated saving of more than 1 million dollars to the City of Newark.

It was also stated that all Trainees were taken from the Newark Relief rolls. They are paid the same amount as received when on relief plus $4.00 a month.

Jobs offered relief roll trainees are, clerical, lab techniques, auto repair, employees in private and city agencies as well as other employment. William Burrell, project Director, was also present. Benedict Maritana is acting Project Manager.

Commenting on the conference, Louis Martin, Deputy Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, said:

"The Voting Rights Act of 1965 and the recent Supreme Court decision outlawing poll taxes have opened the door for full participation of Negroes in our political life and we are on the threshold of a new era in American politics."

"The impact of these new developments will be fully explored at the conference. Adjunct administration leaders and all of the national Democratic Party officials will be invited to discuss all phases of political activity and special briefing sessions are planned for candidates who are running for office for the first time."

"More Negroes are filing as candidates in the 1968 elections than ever before in history. Defectors many exceptionally well qualified Negroes have been reluctant to run for office but the resurgence of political action in Negro communities all across the country has changed that picture."

Citing the great gains Negro Americans have won through the strong civil rights position of the Democratic Administration under President Lyndon B. Johnson, Martin said, "We believe that the rising expectations of Negroes cannot be ignored and it is clearly in the national interest that Negroes seek greater opportunities in education, the ballot box and democratic processes."

Gibson Crys No Race Issue In Fight For Mayor

NEWARK — The following is a statement issued this week by Kenneth A. Gibson, candidate for Mayor of the City of Newark. It is as follows: When I announced my candidacy, I stated that I would not spend or waste my time criticizing the present city administration. Our organization considers the office of mayor vacant, and we will seek to have the voters elect me to fill the vacuum.

When I announced my candidacy, I made it clear that I am not going to be running as a Negro candidate for mayor, but rather as a qualified candidate. In spite of this position, Addonizio, with his reference to "special efforts to divide the Negro vote," makes it crystal clear that he is going to deal in the senseless business of race. I still refuse to be sucked into this type of campaign. It is time our city's politicians joined the twentieth century and be done with this thing called race.

If the mere announcement of my candidacy has produced such pressure on him, this early in the campaign, as the "visions of some 'Alice in Wonderland,' 'cinderella' meeting, he will be a nervous wreck when the issues are placed before the people."

Obviously, Addonizio sees a Mrs. Rhee at Husband's Grave. SEQUOI, South Korea Mrs. Francesa Rhee, Austrian-born widow of Syngman Rhee, the former South Korean President, arrived here last week and visited her husband's grave at the Korean National Cemetery on the Han River. Mr. Rhee died in Honolulu last July.

U.S. AID RURAL PALESTINIS KARACHI, Pakistan — The United States announced last week a grant of more than $4.3-million toward a rural works program in West Pakistan. Included are rural health centers, village water, drainage and sanitation projects, roads and schools.

A three-man Federal District Court, in upholding the barring of Bond, pointed to the "segregation of powers principle" permitting self-government to the states, and declared that "some restraint is to be practiced by the courts in considering state political questions concerning particular offices as distinguished from whole systems as are revealed in malapportionment, or racial discrimination."

The lower court said that the Georgia legislature's unsetting of Bond was justified because "his statements and affirmation of the SNCC statement as they bore on the functioning of the Selective Service System could reasonably be said to be inconsistent with and repugnant to the oath which he was required to take. This suffices as a rational basis for the action of the House."

The ACLU brief contends that the issue which the Supreme Court must decide is whether an individual elected by the people to represent them in a state legislature may be cast out by the legislature because it finds his views too unorthodox for its taste.

Challenging the three-man court's decision, the ACLU argues that "if left standing, it will seriously erode at least two fundamental constitutional principles which are directly served by the First Amendment: freedom of elected representatives to express themselves without hindrance on questions of public importance, and the right of voters freely to elect their legislative representatives." The brief adds, "To Nullify either of these rights makes a mockery of representative democracy. Nonetheless, both of these principles were enunciated by the decision of the lower court."

The Union brief was prepared by ACLU legal director, Melvin J. Wolf, Charles Moran Jr., its Southern Regional director, and Morris Brown, ACLU cooperating attorney.

RUMANIAN BALLET TO RETURN The Rumanian Folk Ballet of 90 dancers and musicians, which made its New York debut last month at the City Center, is being brought back to New York by S. Hurok. The company will give two performances at Carnegie Hall on its final day, April 9.

"HAPPY FELLA" TO BE REVIVED Leading Players in The City Center's revival of "The Most Happy Fella" were announced last week. Appearing in the musical from May 11 until May 22 will be Norman Atkins, Barbara Melster, Peter Palmer, Karen Morrow, Jack de Leon, Lee Cass and Fran Stevens. The director as well as choreographer will be Ralph Beaumont.

Lawyers Ask High Court Act In Bond Case

NEW YORK — The American Civil Liberties Union criticized last week (March 28) as an unconstitutional violation of free speech and association the ouster of civil rights leader Julian Bond from his seat in the Georgia state legislature because of his expressed opposition to the Vietnam war. The civil liberties group also charged that the ouster of Bond was "impermissibly vague."

The ACLU, in a friend of the court brief filed with the United States Supreme Court, urged the Court to review the decision of the three-judge federal court upholding the Georgia legislature's action.

Bond, who is communications director of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, supported a SNCC statement in December 1964 in Vietnam and expressing sympathy with those "unwilling to respond to a military draft."

Stating that he had opposed the draft, Bond added that he thought others who felt the same way should seek legal alternatives, such as Red Cross or civil rights work. The move to bar Bond was initiated by Georgia Representative W. Jones Lane, who said: "Anyone who gives aid and comfort to the enemies of the United States or the enemies of the State of Georgia is guilty of treason."

After hearings were held by a special house committee, the Georgia legislature voted on January 10 (1965) to expel Bond from its membership because of his criticism of U. S. military action in Vietnam.

A three-man Federal District Court, in upholding the barring of Bond, pointed to the "segregation of powers principle" permitting self-government to the states, and declared that "some restraint is to be practiced by the courts in considering state political questions concerning particular offices as distinguished from whole systems as are revealed in malapportionment, or racial discrimination."

new history being written in urban politics. Carl B. Stokes, the Negro who missed being elected mayor of Cleveland by less than 2,000 votes, wrote the first chapter when whites and Negroes joined to fight the common problems they faced.

True to the tradition of "Dixie Hurrah" politics, Addonizio would rather fight than switch further comment.

Implicit in his charges, were certain assumptions which the voters of this city perhaps will reject; that he is the only candidate with more than a "meager chance" of winning; that he has some right to the Negro vote that should not be "divided"; that I will be able only to get the votes of Negroes in the South and Central wards; and, worst of all, that the people of Newark are gullible enough to believe such wild accusations.

I accept Addonizio's "dare" and defy him to produce any "representatives of Kenneth Gibson" who attended his little meeting. After consultation with my associates, I speak for me. This is the only way my campaign has, is, or will be run.

I couldn't care less who meets with anyone and what they discuss. If he chooses to have as the theme song of his campaign "Why Is Everybody Always Picking On Me," this is, of course, his business. However, our organization does not plan to expend our energies "picking" on any candidate. We promise the voters a mudsling campaign.

DR. WILLIAM SMITH
BISHOP OF ST. JUDE
UNION METHODIST CHURCH INC.

There may be circumstances in which we feel that we cannot approve of our own actions or the actions of others. But, even in these circumstances, the forgiving grace of God can enter in and help to right the wrong and adjust that which needs adjustment.

It is true that we cannot always go back and undo things that have been done. But we can go forward resolving to do better. To stand still in condemnation will not bring us nearer to the goal of perfection. But to press forward indicates that we have joined forces with the good, that we will do all that we can to re-establish and maintain this good.

Through the grace of God I forgive and I am forgiven. Any harsh, unloving thoughts or feelings are dissolved and replaced through the grace of God. Any action that did not have its origin in Truth is void of power and consequence through the grace of God. This is true now and forever.

Sometimes we dismiss an idea without giving it a second thought. Sometimes we do not try to use an idea, because we are afraid of failure. We may even hesitate to begin some project because we wonder, "Will I be able to carry it through?" We question, "Will problems come up that I cannot solve?" We ask, "What will happen if I fail?"

At such times we need to realize that we do not work alone. We are not limited to our own resources. We have access to the infinite wisdom of God. The very fact that the idea has come to us is proof that God works and the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill; the Durham Chamber of Commerce and the Durham Committee on Negro Affairs, are all participating in the planning. This is an outstanding demonstration of "Togetherness."

One of the features of the dedication will be a Symposium. The major emphasis of this Symposium will be on the Negro's achievement, and/or contributions to American life — past, present, and projections as to the future — so as to give a better balance to his image. It is our feeling that the positive, as well as the negative image of the Negro should be projected from time to time, since the whole of his life in America has not been confined to the ghettos, nor all of his efforts to perpetuating crimes. On the contrary, with his limited opportunities, he has demonstrated his power to become an asset in many fields; and, in many instances, has raised himself "by his own bootstraps."

The Seminars

On Friday, April 1, there will be Seminars in the fields of: Business and Professions, Communications, Education, Government, Public Policy, and Political Action. Also Labor, Literature and the Arts, Religion and Sports.

Saturday, April 2

Randolph Heads N.Y. Protestant Church Council

NEW YORK—A. Philip Randolph, outstanding Labor and Civil Rights leader was elected here last week as chairman of the Board of Directors of the Protestant Council of the City of New York.

About 100 members of the council voted unanimously for Mr. Randolph and other new officers in the meeting room in the basement of the administrative building of the Marble Collegiate Church at Fifth Avenue and West 29th Street.

The Rev. Dr. Norman Vincent Peale was re-elected president of the council, a cooperative agency of 1,700 Protestant and Eastern Orthodox churches in the city.

Mr. Randolph, who will be 77 next month, is a vice president of the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations, and founder and president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters.

It was fitting because the foundation of A. Philip Randolph's life has been religion, his deep beliefs in the truth of the Judeo-Christian tradition.

Randolph, a stately man grown fragile with years, discussed his early life as the son of a worker-preacher in a small Florida town moments before he accepted his new leadership role in the Protestant Council yesterday.

"My home was church-oriented and it was from my father that I got the spirit of struggle and sacrifice. Reading the Bible aloud was as much a part of the routine of our home as supper-time, and my knowledge of the Bible has since given me some concept of the worth of human beings."

Today, Randolph is revered as an elder statesman in the fight for racial and social justice, a fight which he considers a moral challenge to the traditions of Christianity and democracy in America. It is a challenge which he says "is being met," although the fight is not yet over.

"No question now confronting the Negro is more demanding and more crucial than the elimination of unemployment," he said.

"The job problem must be solved to give stability to the Negro home, to give the head of the Negro home not only security but status in the form of respect from his wife and children."

In a slow, deep voice, he discussed the rise of violent black nationalist sentiment among Negroes.

"I consider it a form of social and racial sickness, but at the same time it is a natural expression of decades and decades of oppression and neglect of the Negro. It can be cured only if people respond to the message of brotherhood, if the conditions under which Negroes live are made just and fair."

Randolph's credentials as a labor leader have been conspicuous since he began organizing the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters in the 1920s. A vice president of the AFL-CIO, he still travels to his office in Harlem every day, although he has lately agreed to refresh himself with a one hour mid-day nap.

His credentials as a civil rights spokesman, if anything, are even more formidable.

Although he is probably best known to the young generation as the organizer of the 1963 march on Washington, a day which he recalls as "the most beautiful, most glorious" of his life, the older generation knows him as a man who has consistently marched on Washington to win equality for the Negro.

It was largely through his efforts that a Fair Employment Practices Committee was first established and that segregation in the armed forces was discarded. But it has not been an easy battle because, in the words of an oft-repeated Randolph maxim: "Politicians don't move unless you move them."

Spruce Program To Make Newark Clean, Bright

NEWARK — What is expected to be the most ambitious "spruce-up" campaign in Newark's history will open April 15 for a month-long period as part of the city's 300th Anniversary celebration.

The campaign is timed to have the city looking its brightest and spriteliest for Founders Day on May 18. It will be promoted throughout the downtown area and in every neighborhood of Newark.

Plans for the event, which is officially designated as "Spruce-Up, Brighten-Up Month," include a drive to get businessmen, store keepers, home owners and others to scrub, paint and polish their premises where needed; the planting of flowers in parks and garden areas, and the installation of flower pots and planters in public and business locations.

A large-scale promotional effort is being launched to push the campaign. It will include the distribution of "Spruce-Up, Brighten-Up" flyers and pamphlets throughout the city, and the display of signs on all city sanitation trucks and police vehicles and many public places.

The campaign is being planned and promoted by four groups, working with the Newark 300th Anniversary Corporation as coordinator. They are the Broad Street Improvement Committee of the Greater Newark Chamber of Commerce, the Newark Commission for Neighborhood Conservation and Rehabilitation, the Newark Garden Club and the Newark Sanitation Department. Mayor Addonizio and other city officials have been working in close cooperation with the groups.

"By the time Founders Day rolls around," said Harry B. Mahler, chairman of the Decorations Subcommittee of the Broad Street Improvement Committee, "we hope that Newark will look cleaner and brighter and more inviting than ever before in anybody's memory."

Conyers Wants Watch Kept On Voting In South

WASHINGTON — Congressman John Conyers, Jr. (Dem-Michigan) said last week "all elections in the South must be watched with minute scrutiny during this election year. The federal court decision which invalidated the 1965 municipal elections in Sunflower, Mississippi has given us a new legal precedent which can be used to throw out any election from which Negro American voters are systematically barred."

Conyers cited the action of the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals as an encouraging legal and judicial restraint which can be applied in cases of nonrepresentative elections. "The Justice Department has filed suit to block Alabama's Bullock County — where registered Negro voters now outnumber white — from postponing elections for two years," declared Conyers. "This is one of the first cases of its kind to be filed under the 1965 Voting Rights Act provision which bars changes in election procedures without first submitting them to the Department of Justice or the U. S. District Court in Washington. I feel that this action of the Attorney General and the Sunflower decision are proof of the value of the Voting Rights Act and illustrate what dramatic results can be obtained when it is fully enforced."

Conyers went on to say "while some sweeping decisions and legislation do produce dramatic results, there is much to be done in the battle for equal rights that is slow, tedious, and time-consuming." Conyers told a Joint Circuit Conference of the American Law Students Association in his keynote address "it is important that you who will be practicing lawyers plan to try cases under existing laws. Civil suits can be successfully tried under section 1983 in Title 42 of the United States Code — yet too few attorneys attempt such cases. In this manner you can be instrumental in the effort of our profession to extend the prudence to every American regardless of his race, creed, or color."

CONGO ROSEWOOD USED IN NEW MET THE WORLD'S LARGEST OPERA HOUSE...

Rosewood from the Congo representing the world's finest is used throughout the New Metropolitan Opera House at Lincoln Center (New York) which is slated to open September 16. African Rosewood is used in the paneling on all levels of the 72 foot high auditorium with ceiling of gold. Manager Rudolph Bing and his assistant Herman E. Krawitz conducted a tour of the new Met for the Press last week. The fourteen story air conditioned building has begun to become alive with splashes of gold, red and white, highlighted by twenty-one crystal chandeliers. The 3,800 seats of red mohair plus have been installed on all levels, Orchestra, Parterre Boxes, Grand Tier, Dress Circle, Balcony and Family Circle. The five soaring arches forming the facade of the $45.7 million opera house, the world's largest among other features, are an architectural triumph of Wallace K. Harrison who designed an essentially horseshoe-shaped auditorium. Its normal seating capacity is 3,800 not including 24 score desk seats for students of the Opera Guild plus 200 standees.

Gourmets will be able to go the rounds from the "Top of the Met" as two restaurants will be open to the public through the day (Plaza-level "Opera Cafe"), with the "Grand Tier," the third restaurant accommodating ticket-holders. The new opera house's backstage at Lincoln Center has been designed to facilitate every technical and mechanical aspect of operat production. The stage area will be six times greater than the present Met's with a whole season's scenery storable. The building will have dressing rooms for principal artists, and others for the ladies of the chorus and ballet, for men and supernumeraries, and for musicians, conductors, electricians and property men among other backstage facilities with offices located on the north and south sides of the auditorium.

Mr. Bing told us he would finally see the day in a light filling office after having been in the dark one at the old house for the past sixteen years. At the old house we could do nothing—this one has all to be desired.

A Negro singer, Leontyne Price will open the new opera house come Sept. 16 creating the role of the Egyptian Queen Cleopatra with a Puerto Rican, ustino Diaz as Anthony. The Metropolitan Opera under a grant from the Ford Foundation, has commissioned Samuel Barber to write an opera based on Shakespeare's "Anthony and Cleopatra." The new Metropolitan Opera located in the center of the Lincoln Center complex is a citadel of beauty and democracy for all to see, enjoy and hear its music and artists.

Powell Draws Up Plans For Negro Rise In Power

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell of New York, chairman of the all important House Committee on Education and Labor just recently issued what may be termed one of America's great "Civil Rights Statements" named by him a "Black Position Paper." Includes 19 points which the militant Congressman says represents a summation of "my life's philosophy."

The statement based on the following points are as follows:

"1. We must give our children a sense of pride in being black. The glory of our past and the dignity of our present must lead the way to the power of our future.

"2. We must insist that black organizations be led by black leadership. Italians lead Italian organizations. Irish lead Irish organizations. This kind of honest pluralism is a happy fact of American life.

"3. The black masses must accept the responsibility of financing their own organizations.

"4. The black masses must demand and refuse to accept nothing less than that proportionate share of political jobs and appointments which are equal to their proportion of the population and voting election.

"5. Black people must support and push black candidates for political office first — occasionally taking the risk of even electing an 'Uncle Tom.' But after you elect him, unrock him and replace him.

"6. Black people must seek audacious power.

"7. Black leadership in the North and South must differentiate between and work within the two-pronged thrust of the black revolution: economic self-sufficiency and political power.

"8. Black masses must produce and contribute to the economy of the country in the proportionate strength of their population.

"9. Black communities in this country — whether it is

New York's Harlem, Chicago's South and West Sides, or Philadelphia's North Side — must neither tolerate nor accept outside leadership — black or white.

"10. The black masses should only follow those leaders who can sit at the bargaining table with the white power structures as equals and negotiate for a share of the loaf of bread, not beg for some of its crumbs.

"11. What is left of this black leadership . . . must come back to the Negroes who made them in the first place or be purged by the black masses.

"12. Demonstrations and all continuing protest activity must be non-violent.

"13. No black person over 21 must be permitted to participate in a demonstration, walk a picket line or be part of any civil rights or community activity unless he or she is a registered voter.

"14. Black people must continue to defy the laws of man when such laws conflict with the law of God.

"15. Black people must discover a new and creative total involvement with ourselves. We must turn our energies inwardly toward our homes, our churches, our families, our children, our colleges, our neighborhoods, our businesses and our communities. . . . This is no time for cottons and sips and to run around sipping martinis in the homes of suburban white families when black families are starving in the inner city. . . .

"16. The war on poverty must become that more productive crusade for jobs. . . .

"17. The battle against segregation in America's public school systems must become a national effort, instead of the present regional skirmish that now exists. Title VI of the 1964 Civil Rights Act outlaws de jure racial segregation. It has no meaning or application to the hard-core pockets of de facto racial segregation in Northern schools which is just as malicious, just as destructive of the human spirit.

"18. We must put pressures on our predominantly black colleges to shift their emphasis from teacher education to nuclear physics and aerodynamics.

"19. Every black man who considers himself an American must become a registered voter."

Mr. Powell further emphasizes racial consciousness when he says:

"Let us take pride in our black skins in this white man's civilization."

Dr. King Denied Visa To Lecture In So. Africa

ATLANTA, GA. — The Republic of South Africa refused to grant noted civil rights leader and Nobel Prize winner, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. a visa to visit that country, which has long been a bastion of apartheid.

Dr. King, President of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, had been invited to lecture in South Africa by two student groups, the National Union of South African Students and the Students' Visiting Lecturers Organization of the University of Cape Town.

He had applied for his visa through the South African Embassy in New Orleans on February 9 of this year.

Ironically, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D. N.Y.) long a foe of segregation, is also seeking a visa to visit South Africa, a focal point of the struggle between white supremacists and African nationalists.
